Transference - Focused Psychotherapy for Borderline Personality disorders

September 2 - 4, 2016
Hotel Holiday Inn, Conference Hall,
Šeimyniškių st. 1, Vilnius

Prof. Frank Yeomans is Clinical Associate Professor of Psychiatry at the Weill Medical College of Cornell University, Director of Training at the Personality Disorders Institute of Weill-Cornell, Lecturer in Psychiatry at the Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons Center for Psychoanalytic Training and Research, and Director of the Personality Studies Institute in Manhattan. Prof. Yeomans' primary interests are the development, investigation, teaching, and practice of psychotherapy for personality disorders. He has participated in establishing training programs for psychodynamic therapy of personality disorders in numerous sites in North America and Europe. He has authored and co-authored numerous articles and books, including A Primer on Transference-Focused Psychotherapy for the Borderline Patient, and Psychotherapy for Borderline Personality: Focusing on Object Relations, co-authored with Drs. John Clarkin and Otto Kernberg. He works closely with Otto Kernberg and together they travel around the world to hold numerous seminars on various TFP topics. Transference-Focused Psychotherapy (TFP) has it's roots in object relations theory. It is an evidence-based psychodynamic therapy designed for patients with the type of condition known as personality disorders. In professor's Yeomans seminars theoretical knowledge lively intertwine with practice. These lectures will undoubtedly be useful for anyone who works with borderline level patients.
